Solutions For Your Good Health

SMI: Your solutions provider for medical supplies and medicine when working in challenging environments

Protecting health. Health, first aid, hygiene and protection from infectious diseases are basic concerns of anyone who works in demanding environments, whether on a distant oil rig, in a refugee camp, in a remote tropical construction or mining site. When effective medical facilities are far away, employers need to protect the health of their personnel, national as well as international.

Developing solutions. It was in response to these needs that Doctor Jean-Michel Lichtenberger founded SMI twenty-five years ago. Those twenty-five years have been spent in developing solutions that are setting the standards of practice for clients in the oil industry, aviation, International UN Organizations, NGOs and for all those who operate or live in areas of high health risk.

Expanding to stay advanced. Every year brings a fresh need and so, in response to these new challenges, SMI has set itself the goal of becoming the major player in this sector for technical and logistical solutions and services to provide medical supplies and medicine.

To achieve this position SMI is undertaking a major expansion of its present activities with the strengthening of its skilled, dedicated and people-oriented personnel as well as the development of its network in Africa, bringing health solutions closer to the people who need them.

Managing a workforce - international or national - in areas of serious health risk presents a challenge for any organization. Dealing with age-old malaria or an outbreak of HxNy flu, with substandard or fake medications, with community health programs or public-private partnerships is beyond the core activity of the organization. However they need to address those risks and concerns, which could have serious repercussions in human, financial and legal terms. SMI's mission is to provide solutions to the problems arising from this challenge. SMI's approach to health solutions is an all-embracing one and goes far beyond the simple provision of medical equipment and drugs.

For SMI a solution means:

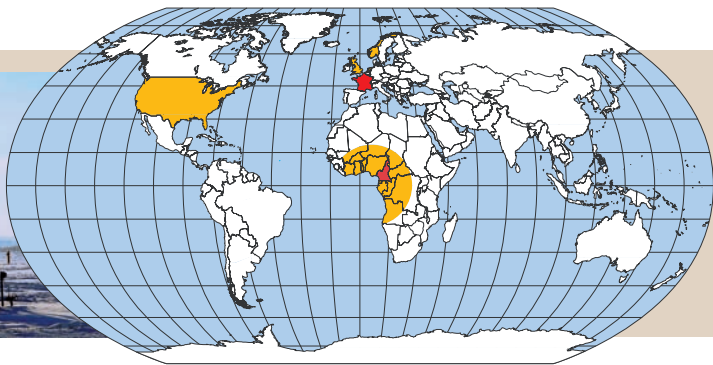

- using all its long experience, its expertise and knowledge in the fields of health risk,
 - taking advantage of the latest medical research,
 - consulting with and advising its clients in order to identify their needs and design solutions that meet them.
- SMI, including a pharmaceutical company, can provide them with all the necessary medical equipment and medication. The service also includes worldwide logistics, stock management and a support system, traceability, personalization and quality control to mention but a few.

An SMI solution is to provide a service from start to finish.

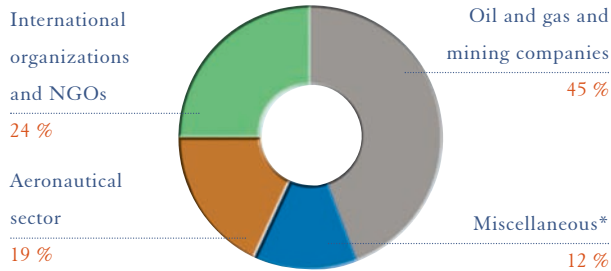

SMI's total approach is designed to ensure the health and protection of people in hostile environments where diseases are endemic, or where a specific threat exists or may occur. By protecting people, SMI contributes to the success of the organization that employs them.

SMI's solutions

Health solutions

Providing companies and organizations with comprehensive solutions to health risks. This entails health products and a various range of technical, logistical or pharmaceutical services.

First-Aid solutions

Making first aid effective, practical, economical and easy to manage. The SMI modular system means adaptation to each context, as well as sounder management.

Pharma solutions

Addressing quality and cost concerns through the "Sure Meds" concept. Substandard medicine carries health and legal risks and security is often related to high costs, when alternative solutions exist.

CSR solutions

Helping a business carry out its health program by providing means that are relevant, respectful, effective and visible in order to contribute to sustainable development.

COMPANY VALUES

Service

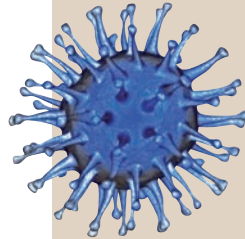

SMI is fundamentally a service-oriented company. Service goes far beyond the supply of products to include logistical, educational, pharmaceutical, medical or managerial services.

Quality and Safety

SMI is highly focused on delivering safe and quality controlled products and services, disposing of related certifications to ensure this. Quality drives the organization.

Professionalism

With twenty-five years of experience in the provision of health solutions, SMI has developed a professional approach in all it does: pharmaceutical expertise, research, consultation, advice, equipment supply, logistics and support.

Partnership and Value Creation

SMI works with and for its clients to establish goals, objectives and deadlines and the means to achieve them successfully. In protecting the health of employees, SMI's services create value for its clients through increased productivity and an enhanced profile as responsible employers.

Legal and Financial Considerations

Any organization working in zones of high exposure to infectious diseases is aware of the legal responsibilities in relation to the health protection of their employees. SMI helps its clients to ensure that health protection is not an expense, but an investment. SMI is ideally positioned to assist enterprise in this important struggle.

Protecting Local Populations

This challenge is on a huge scale. As an example, SMI is a key player in the fight against malaria working in partnership with major oil companies, international and local authorities to provide malaria protection.

Team Spirit

SMI is a people-orientated organization and this creates team spirit within the company in the search for innovative and creative solutions.

Information and Education

SMI promotes a policy of information and education that is aimed at raising global awareness of the dangers run and the defensive measures available to combat infectious diseases.
